Together in Song and Spirit

During a day when children's choirs as we know them now scarcely existed in churches, educator Ruth Krehbiel Jacobs recognized the vast potential for the systematic development of Christian character in boys and girls through the medium of the church children's choir. Her desire to establish Choristers Guild grew out of her own personal experiences in choral music with children as well as experiences in giving lectures and conducting festivals and seminars. As she began to achieve more national prominence, she received numerous "How do you do it?" requests from all over the country. The idea of sending out mimeographed letters on a regular basis evolved. In 1949, Choristers Guild was established as a membership organization, accompanied by the regular distribution of Choristers Guild Letters.

Membership in Choristers Guild makes you a vital part of a unique community, one that carries forward a legacy of musical excellence, spiritual development and support to choir directors in this essential work.

Choristers Guild has grown over the years from mimeographed letters to being a leader in choral music publishing while providing a variety of educational resources. Choral leaders count on us for quality music written by today's top choral composers paired with the tools to lead their choirs with confidence.

We provide instruction and mentorship to choir directors each summer at the week-long Choristers Guild Institute, designed for current and future leaders of children's and youth choirs (K-8th). Other resources include books, weekly emails, webinars, Learning Resource Paks, and our quarterly magazine, The Chorister. As a membership association, we bring people together in person and online. Chapters, reading sessions, workshops, and more are opportunities for connection and growth.

During the pandemic struggles of "what now?" Choristers Guild used Zoom meetings and webinars to bring people together in the search for answers. We made a quick turnaround on digital tools and music designed to keep choirs together and as active as they could be in a time of distancing and shutdowns. Whatever the circumstances, Choristers Guild is ready to serve as your partner in music ministry and teaching.

As a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, Choristers Guild counts on memberships and donations to fund our mission of enabling leaders to nurture the musical and spiritual growth of children, youth, and adults. Do you find value in this mission? If so, please consider becoming a member, making a donation, or both! Don't miss this opportunity to grow your skills and program outreach.
